The following information about Bartholomew was found in Genealogist and researcher's books and Archives. Note: The compilers of this book do not agree. They found that Bartholomew Heath of Haverhill, Massachusetts, "yeoman" was born in about 1615 in the English village of Nazeing, Essex County which is located about 20 miles north of London.
It is said that 1632 at the age of 17 years old he purchased passage on the sailing ship, "the Lyon", to America. Unfortunately the Lyon's passenger list shows only about a third of the passengers. We, the compilers of this book cannot find the documented evidence that Bartholomew was born in Nazeing and came to New England in 1632 on the Lyon. Other very respected writers apparently did find the documented evidence. William Heath and his family are mentioned on the passenger list of the Lyon, but Bartholomew is not mentioned.
Assuming Bartholomew is or was one of the 2/3rd's not named, we will assume he was a passenger on the Lyon. It is believed that he left England with his father, uncle, brother or cousin who had lived in England, who previously had moved from Ware Parish, Hertfordshire, England. William's brother Isaac, who had never lived in Nazeing, England also came from Ware Parish, Hertfordshire, England.
Isaac arrived in New England in late 1635 on the "Hopewell." One brother to Bartholomew was John, who was found to be in America but it could not be determined if he came to America at the same time as Bartholomew and William.
On June 22, 1632, Bartholomew and definitely William boarded the sailing vessel the “Lyon" and after approximately 3 months at sea, landed at Boston, Massachusetts (then called “New England” September 16th, 1632. Soon after their arrival in America, Bartholomew and William took up residence in the small village of Roxbury, Massachusetts, (now a district of Boston.) Within a few years Bartholomew moved from Roxbury to Newbury, Massachusetts, and remained there until sometime after 1640.
About 1640 he married Hannah Moyce (Moyse), daughter of Joseph and Hannah Folcord Moyce (Moyse), originally from Dennington Parish, Suffolk County, England, but in 1640 residents of Salisbury, Massachusetts. After their wedding Bartholomew and Hannah Heath resided in Newbury, Massachusetts, where their fist child was born. They moved to Haverhill, Massachusetts as early as 1642-1646, where he was an innkeeper. Haverhill was a new village, founded in 1645, and then considered to be in the wilderness and controlled by Indians. Bartholomew and Hannah were some it's first inhabitants.
At some unknown time thereafter (i)John Heath, Bartholomew's brother, moved to Haverhill.

No ship records could be found where John Heath was a passenger to New England, but he left a Will, dated December 28, 1674, proved April 10, 1675.
John Heath apparently left no children of his own, and at this time lived with a nephew whom he calls "Cousin" as was the old tradition. John Heath willed that first, all expenses (In the language of that time) "I have ben att sence I have ben in my Cousin John Heath's house to be paid out of my estate," and then gave 40 shillings to Haverhill Church; 40 s. to "the College at Cambridge"; 40s. toward procuring a minister for the Church at Haverhill after Mr. Ward's decease; 5 pounds to"my couzen Matha which was my couzen Joseph Heath's wife, which is now wife to Joseph Page; Couzen John Heath's Son Bartholomew a two yerling Cote"; to "Couzen Joseph Heath ten pounds if he come to age of twenty one yere"; to "Josias Heath's son Josias a little colt"; to "Sias Heath, five acrese of Land in the plaine," etc. to "Couzen John Heath the east meadow, all the rest of real Estate to Brother Bartholl Heath for hee to dispose as he shallsee Cause"; to "Couzen Sarah, John Heath's wife", to "sias Heath" "Brother Barolomew to be Executor." (Essex County, Probate Records, 2: 43).

on 28 Jul 1742 in Haverhill, Essex, Massachusetts.[28] He died circa 1815 at the age of 73 in Stanstead, Lower Canada.[29] After the signing of the Treaty of Paris on September 3, 1783, the American Revolutionary War ended with the establishment of the state of Vermont. The border of Upper Canada was then defined at approximately 45 degrees north latitude.[4][5] The territory immediately adjacent to it became part of Quebec in 1848.
Currently (2012) Stanstead is a township municipality of about 1,000 people in the Memphrémagog Regional County Municipality in the Estrie region of Quebec.
It would seem that the Heaths crossed the border, stopped and stayed. Descendants still live there. There are many anecdotal stories about Stanstead. The village existed before the border was determined. There are home in Stanstead that have the living room in Canada and the dining room in the USA.
Whereas many of the Heaths went to Stanstead, son Peter (the fifth of the 9 children) chose Norfolk county in Upper Canada.
He arrived about 1835 with his wife and children. Some of his children, including son Mortimer stayed in Canada but many of the other children returned to the USA when they became adults.

Jacob Lincoln and Valdora Heath - Where Did They Come From?
Maria Hess was the mother of Mortimer Heath. She and her husband, Peter Heath, moved to Canada in the 1830s and became citizens in the early 1850s. We don't know what happened to Peter, but Maria ended up with one of her daughters who had married and moved to Saginaw, Michigan. There is an interesting tale on the Hess family website of one of her ancestors who was killed (and scalped) by Indians at the time of the French Indian Wars in the 1760s. At that time the ownership of the Mohawk Valley and points west were in dispute between the English and the French, and each were supported by their own group of Indian nations. The story goes that Johannes Hess II was killed when he thought it was safe to come out of hiding after an Indian attack on his farm. His two sons, Jacob and Johannes Frederick, were abducted and held as hostages. Jacob managed to escape two days later, but Frederick was held captive for three years before finding his way out of the camp and back to the SETTLED: Mortimer was a farmer and a teamster and had a farm as can be seen in the 1877 Norfolk Historical Atlas on Lot 48, Concession #2, north of the Talbot Road. This is just northwest of the Delhi limits on the right hand side of the Talbot Rd. (Hwy #3) with high ground falling down to a small pond and the creek below. From the map it looks like the Quance property was just below this property.

Jacob Lincoln and Valdora Heath - Where Did They Come From?
Grandpa Heath was from all accounts a poor bridge player but he loved the game, possibly to excess. He got into difficulty one night when he was travelling and lost $1000 that he had taken in sales. He said that it was stolen but the suggestion was made to his grandfather that he had lost it in a bridge game gone bad. To avoid a public scandal, Grandpa Sovereign loaned him $1000 but in return he was left nothing in Grandpa Sovereign's will when he died in 1909. The company and house were left to Grandpa Heath's sister, Mary Heath Whitside.
The Whitsides were close cousins to the Heaths when they were growing up. I was told that the oldest son (Leroy) had been "sweet on" May and they used to play duets together on the piano. That son was the only Heath relative to die in Europe during the First World War.

GENERAL NOTES:
This is author R .L. Whitside's maternal grandmother.
She lost her husband and her son, Leroy, and saw the family business destroyed by fire in 1916 while living in Delhi. After the fire, the business, (The Sovereen Mitt Glove and Robe Co. Ltd.) was moved to Simcoe and became the Simcoe Mitt & Glove Co. Ltd. Shortly after she purchased a large brick house at 126 Colborne Street in Simcoe for she and her son Bruce to live in. I would assume this came after selling their home on Main Street in Delhi. The house was purchased in her name.

R. L. Whitside has in his possession the last will and testament of Wilbur Whitside dated 18 November, 1915 probably written under the pressure of his sickness due to stomach cancer from which he died some 7 months later. All of his estate was left to his wife.

book #16 and instrument #611Bd on page 362 we find that there is a B&S, (bargain and Sale) between Crysler to Whitside on December 8 of 1885. This was a sale by Albert Crysler of Port Arthur in the District of Algoma and Roger Crysler of the village of Fredericksburg in the Tsp of Middleton in the County of Norfolk, merchant and Jane Anne Crysler, his wife to Wilbur H. Whitside of the village of Fredericksburg. This was sealed with a payment of $50.00 which covered the purchase of 1 rod and 17 perches and 9/10 of a perches in Lot number 187 south of the Talbot Road on the west side of Main Street. An extremely detailed description of the location of the property follows and this will become 372 Main Street in Delhi, Middleton Tsp. From this I assume Wilbur purchased the property in December of 1855 to build a house pending his marriage the following summer.
1893: From the Simcoe Reformer of April 28th, 1993, 100 years ago, Delhi: Mr. Wilbur Whitside is having a very nice verandah built in front of his house, which will make a great improvement. (372 Main St. has a stone verandah)
OCCUPATION:
Wilbur seemed to have become a travelling salesman working generally in the canning business. Later Wilbur was the manager of the Delhi Fruit & Vegetable Canning Co. circa 1903, that later became Dominion Canners.
In July 1903, see Reformer of July 10, 1903, he became the manager of The Sovereen Glove Factory which belonged to his wife Mary Heath's grandfather, Jacob Sovereen who would be 86 yrs old at the time and probably ill. Jacob died in 1909. In 1889 Jacob Sovereen owned a canning factory in Delhi, which he was fixing up.

From the Simcoe Reformer, "Turning Back", feature, items of July 10. 1903, "Mr. W. H. Whitside is the new manager of the Sovereen Glove Factory of Delhi". Also, "Mr. John Montgomery is getting the old shoddy mill in shape for the occupancy by the Mitt and Robe Factory.
From the Simcoe Reformer of 1896-12-31, "W. H. Whitside was nominated to 1897 Delhi Council."

Chapter 2 of my book, " Gloves, Robes & Rainwear" a history of the families manufacturing companies, dated February, 2001 written by Robert L. Whitside covers Wilbur Whitside 1860-1916 involvement in the business.

GENERAL NOTES:
LETTER: From Samuel Whitside, (Wilbur's fathers brother), dated August. 26th, 1885 from Fort Meade, Dakota Territory to James Whitside:
My dear Brother,
During the last year I have received two letters from Wilbur in which he expresses a desire to leave home and come to the western country, with a view of going into business and growing up with the country. I presume you are well aware that business in nearly all its branches is very much depressed in the United States and at present there are not many favourable openings for young men without capitol.
I write to ascertain whether it is with your consent or in other words are you willing that Wilbur should leave home and go out in to the world on his own hook, if so I think I could secure for him a situation at this post with our Post Trader as Book Keeper and to attend to the Post Office. The Book Keeping will not be extensive and the work will not be very laborious, he will have exclusive control of the Post Office. Do you think Wilbur equal to the emergency and sufficiently familiar with the business to perform the duty above mentioned? He is not to be a salesman in the store, only to do the work referred to. If you are willing for him to come and believe he can do the work let me know as soon as convenient and I will write and let him know when to come and what route to take to reach here and what it will probably cost him in the way of fare. His salary will begin the first month with $50. and board and should he give satisfaction and show aptitude and close attention to his work then his pay will be increased to $75. and board.

We are having a severe rain storm which has been raging for three days with no prospect of its holding up which is an unusual thing for this season of the year.
Carrie, Warren, Madeline and myself are all in good health and like this part of the country very much indeed, considering the short time that we have been here. I am told it gets intensely cold here in the winter so we are looking forward to the winter with a good deal of awe as we are not accustomed to cold weather having spent so much of our lives in a mild climate. I suppose your family especially the youngest members of it have about grown out of our recollection as such a long time has passed since we saw you all. Even little Maude is growing into womanhood, with Carrie about sweet seventeen we would love dearly to see you all was it possible for us to do so.
Carrie and the children join me in sending a great deal of love and best wishes to you all.
Hoping to hear from you soon, your affectionate brother, S. M. Whitside.
(He was in the Western United States Army).
Note: Wilbur married in July of the next year in 1886, it would be interesting to see the reply to this letter and know what unfolded.

NOTICE IN PAPER: - Mr. Wilbur H. Whitside of Delhi died on Saturday after an illness of some month duration. His trouble, we are informed was a cancerous abdominal growth. Mr Whitside was the only son of the late James Whitside Esq. a pioneer merchant and lumberman of Delhi. He was born in 1860. He was for many years interested in the canning industry but for some time has managed the Sovereen Mitt and Robe Co. He leaves a widow and four children two sons and two daughters. One of the four is an officer in an overseas battalion and is somewhere in the fighting now. The funeral on Tuesday was the largest seen in Delhi in some time. It was under Masonic auspices. MILITARY: Serial # 784329

NOTE R. L. Whitside has copies of all military documents pertaining to Leroy Whitside, obtained from the National Archives in Ottawa.

LETTER: From Senator McCall recommending him for a commission in the Corp of Engineers stating he wants to go overseas with the 2nd Contingent. In a reply dated Nov there were so many applicants that he was not likely to go so he may have transferred to the Infantry after receiving his commission.

He was listed as living at 301 Balmoral St., Winnipeg, Manitoba on 2 November, 1914, employed by the Manitoba Government as a District Engineer in their bridge construction. It States he was of good character and good all round ability.

He was appointed Supernumerary Provisional Lieutenant in 2nd Field Troop, Canadian Engineers, 6 November, 1914, appointment to date from 2 November, 1914. His rank before this was Trooper, 34th Fort Garry Horse. From Simcoe Reformer of July 19/20? 1915, in R. L. Whitside's Leroy Whitside file:

"Roy Whitside, son of Mr. and Mrs Roy ? Whitside has been as an officer with the rank of Lieutenant in the Engineering Corp, 48th Battalion at Sewell, Manitoba. Lieut. Whitside was offered a higher rank to remain at the camp, but preferred the lower rank with the chance of immediate service, overseas".

It would appear at this point in his effort to go overseas that he transferred from the Engineer Corp to the Infantry to the 46th Battalion.

He signed attestation papers on July 9, 1915 for the Canadian Overseas Expedition Forces with 46th Battalion. See copy in official documents. He had been in the Army and Reserve Army for 3 years.

He sailed from Halifax, NS, on the "Lapland", on 23 October, 1915 with the 46th Corp as their Works Officer. He Qualified in a Pioneer course at Shorncliff, England, on 8 January,

On March 3 of 1916 he was declared unfit for service for 3 weeks, the cause seems to have been a debilitated condition caused by dental infection. The Dental Corp at his camp had not received their equipment and the treatment could not be carried out there.

On April 18 he was found fit for duty after his disability of "alveola abscess & diarrhea.
On July 7th to 14th he was declared unfit at Bramshott Military Hospital (Internal derangement of the left knee). This was caused by long marching and strain. The recommendation of the Board was that he be granted one month furlough.The proceedings of the Medical Board assembled at Bramshott stated: "This officer has been suffering from an acute attack of synovitis of the right knee joint due to an internal disarrangement of joint. He has been a patient in Bramshott Military Hospital for the past 10 days. There is no swelling of the joint at present, but it is stiff and tender and he is unable to walk much as yet." He is not fit for light duty.
Leroy sailed for France from England on 10 August, 1916.
According to his pay sheets he was paid $2.00 per day for 30 days for $60.00 plus $32. for messing and $18. for F.A. for a grand total of $110.00 per month. From this he sent $50.00 per month home to his mother.
There is a letter to his mother written before his death describing his work at the the front as the Engineering Officer for the Battalion building trenches, dugouts, drains with 100-200 men. James died on 11 Nov 1916 at the age of 28 in Aid Station, Courcellete, France.[55] The following telegram received by his mother on November 13, 1916 - "Deeply regret to inform you Lieutenant James Leroy Whitside, Infantry, officially reported died of wounds, November 11, 1916.

CIRCUMSTANCES OF DEATH REPORT
Unit: 46th Battalion
Name: Whitside J.L.
Rank: Lieutenant
Date of Death: 11-11-16
Cause of Death: Died of wounds.
On Nov. 11/16 an attack was made by the 46th Infantry on the German position known as Regina Trench, lying east of Practice Road. The Companies were detailed for the attack and Lieut. J. L. Whitside, acting Second-in Command of one of these companies was detailed to command his Company during the operation.
The Company was organized in waves and these waves advanced over our parapet and lay down in No Man's Land just prior to zero hour. At zero hour the shrapnel barrage from our guns opened up and the waves advanced. The enemy replied and Lieut. Whitside was struck in the shoulder and hip by shrapnel. He fell and soon after was picked up by stretcher bearers and was carried to the Dressing Station in Courcellete. There he was under the care of his friend Captain Kennedy, the Regimental M.C. The latter did not consider the wounds fatal and assured Lieut. Whitside that he was not going to "blighty". Lieut. Whitside was cleared to the Canadian Casualty Station, Contay, and there received the careful attention of medical Officers and nurse but died from his wounds at 11 A.M., Nov. 11th. On Nov. 12th his body was buried in Contay Cemetery, No. 1 A Plot 3. Two Officers of the Battalion sent to attend the funeral and the grave has been suitably marked by the 46th Battalion.

(In a personal addenda to this report, Family reports claimed that Leroy thought he was Ok with just an arm and leg wound and insisted that his friend Kennedy treat the other more seriously wounded. In reality the shrapnel had pierced his arm and gone through into the chest and he died from internal bleeding).

At his death he had $58.00 and an insurance policy on his life that was handled by W. E. Sutherland of Delhi, Ontario.
His assigned pay of $50.00 which had been to his mother from April 1916 to October, 1916 was cancelled.
A telegram was sent Nov. 15/16 by B. W. Whitside to Military Defence, Officer in Charge requesting that the body of Leroy Whitside be sent home. The reply stated this could not be considered until the termination of the war. As Leroy was never brought home they must of decided not to do this or perhaps it was too difficult or expensive.
Nov. 19/1916 a letter was sent to the Military under the Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada letterhead from W. E. Sutherland requesting proof of death.
November 20, 1916 a letter was received by the Military from Maude Allingham of Elberon, 30, The Avenue, Brondesbury Park, N.W. (London), requesting information on Leroy's death for her father and for herself. She says that they are both Canadians although they have lived in London for many years. She received a reply confirming his death.
May 17/17 Mrs. M. E. Whitside received notice from the Military that there was a balance of 22.9.11pounds in the Bank of Montreal, 9 Waterloo Place, Pall Mall, London, England and to advise where they want it sent. She answered as there was no Bank of Montreal in Delhi it was to go to the Molson Bank.
On 16th of July of 1917 a cheque was sent for $58.00 for balance of pay.
On Feb. 7 of 1919 a letter was sent to his mother advising that the surplus baggage of James Leroy was being dispatched to her. One trunk in poor conditon tied with rope, not locked and one handbag (kit bag) in sacking were sent.
On July 7 of 1917 a letter was received advising that they had received the copy of the Letter of Administration issued by the Surogate Court of the County of Norfolk to Bruce W. Whitside. Evidently Leroy's brother Bruce was empowered by the court to act for the estate of Leroy so that the Military could send the back pay and anything else. There did not appear to be a will and I suppose it was complicated by the fact that his deceased father was listed as his beneficiary and next of kin.
There was much correspondence to establish that there was no will, that he was not married and for the Life Insurance Co, (W.E. Sutherland Insurance) Official Certificate of Death from the Army. (An amazing amount of paper, some of it in bad shape from water damage).
February 21, 1921 his mother Mrs. M.E. Whitside was sent the Memorial Cross.

In searching the internet at the National Archives of Canada at www.archives.ca and Veterans Affairs Canada www.vad-acc.gc.ca, I was able to obtain both the write up in the memorial section as well as a copy of the page with his name in the Memorial Book that is turned daily in Ottawa.

He was buried on 21 Nov 1916 in Contay Cemetery, France. Buried in Contay France, Chaplain officiating was Rev. A. J. Perry. Number of Grave-1A Plot 3. Marking of grave - Wooden cross with all particulars of the deceased inscribed thereon. R.L.9.W-285 GR. Note his father had died in June of 1916, 5 months before. He was described as Height: 5' 8". BIRTH: From the British Canadian newspaper of 1888-06-06, "Whitside, to wife of Wilbur Whitside a son 26 May 1888 in Delhi."
From Norfolk Historical Society Vital Statistics Birth Registry: May 26, 1888, James Leroy Whitside, male, Wilbur H. Whitside - Mary E. Heath. Father-commercial traveller, lives Delhi, Registered 27 July, 1888, name of Accoucheur - Dr. Honsberger, registrar - J. C. H. Herron?
EDUCATION: I believe he would have attended Public School in Delhi and then graduated from High School in Simcoe. I think they took the train from Delhi to Simcoe daily. He was a graduate Civil Engineer as he graduated from School of Practical Science (Engineering Civil) of the University of Toronto.
It is difficult finding early data on Leroy before he was killed in the First World War in 1916. We can assume he was athletic as there is a picture of him in the Tweedsmuir Journal on a ball team. See Tweedsmuir History of Delhi page. 150 picture on ball team.
After Graduation from University, he went to Saskatoon, Saskatchewan. He evidently then moved to Winnipeg, Manitoba to take a position with the Manitoba Government.

Birth: From Family Group Record of Mortimer Heath supplied by Jean Gordon of RR 1 Fingal, Ont. to RLW.
OCCUPATION: Lincoln was a commercial traveller.
DEATH: From an email from Bruce Barnett, Tokyo, Japan, bib@helen.ocn.ne.jp, April 10 2002.
Bruce Barnett says that when Jacob first married in 1886, he and his wife moved to the States looking for work. They stayed with relatives and eventually gave birth to his grandmother Edna in 1887 in Buffalo.

From Margaret Tupper of Oakville, ON in an email Jun 28 2012: The descendants of the five Heath sisters gather at Clear Lake near Arden every summer. Jacob LincolnHeath built the origianl cotttage but many more have been added. Five birth trees were planted in 1911, one for each daughter. The original cottage is called "The Birches".

The following is by Martin Loney a writer for the local paper.
On the shores of Big Clear Lake. More than 100 descendants and friends of Jacob and Valdora Heath gather this weekend at Arden.
Martin Loney shares summer tales.
My wife's great-grandparents were smarter than they knew. In 1908, they bought an unsuccessful fishing lodge, an adjacent cabin (the bark building) and a parcel of land on Big Clear lake in Arden, south of Sharbot Lake for a modest $60.
Jacob and Valdora Heath are long gone, but "The Birches" still remains and their descendants, at least on holiday weekends, are everywhere. Jacob Heath was a travelling salesman, journeying as far as Nova Scotia, and his wife Valdora cared for the family, raising five girls, Edna, May, Pay, Ruby and Jean, and one boy, Frank, who died at an early age from appendicitis.
Today the grandchildren and great-grandchildren of these famous five come together on hot summer days. Gatherings can reach more than 100 on long weekends when friends are added into the Arden mix.
The old fishing lodge is used for visiting relatives and friends, the bark building is now the summer home to daughter Ruby Brown's children. Ruby visited every year. She died in the summer of 1995 surrounded by family, within days of her 100th birthday.
The bark building has been spruced up through the years, but the slanting floors remain, as do the bats which offer a nocturnal hazard to those braving the upstairs room.
The other sisters built their own cottages and in the mid-30s my wife's grandparents, May and Jack McPhee, built on a site below the old lodge, with a commanding view down the lake.
What Jacob and Valdora failed to foresee was the rapid growth of their family and the limited land supply. A parcel of land was sold for a nominal sum to friends and by the third generation all of the suitable building sites were occupied.

This triggered the next wave of construction, as the younger generation, starting their own families, moved farther around the lake. The more adventurous, in keeping with the spirit of the early years, built their own and the less adept purchased existing cottages.
When the Heaths bought their lodge, Arden was a thriving local centre, with its own train station. In the summer, Mrs. Heath and the children would leave their Toronto home and move to the cottage for the season. Mr. Heath would come by train on weekends or for a week's holiday.
In the early days, the train driver would reportedly stop on the track at the side of the lake and someone would row across and pick visitors up. In later years, visitors would be driven in from the station. Later still, with growing prosperity relatives would drive together from Toronto.
Today, Arden has no train station, its economy is heavily dependent on visiting cottagers, but it is home to an array of craft artisans, including noted batik artist Sarah Hale.
Lake: Summer days bring family, friends together
The lake itself, is little changed, though even Link Barnett, the most avid fisherman, would find it hard to match the record of Grandpa Heath who was known to fish with three poles and once claimed a simultaneous triple catch. Fish of a size seldom seen today used to be brought in and hung from "stringers." Today, there are many more cottages, but the treed shoreline gives a casual viewer much the same impression as that revealed by old photographs.
The concentration of relatives' cottages has created a close extended family, cousins who might otherwise be only dimly aware of their relationship, are close friends. Generations mingle, whether at formal occasions, such as weddings or the aptly named "happy hour," though the strict Methodists who established the community would surely frown at this modern practice.
Other activities are more in keeping, records of the church in the Wildwood go back to 1956, but the custom of open air Sunday worship goes back much farther
The service is run by a weekly volunteer, families take turns, though there is no pressure on the shy or agnostic. On a busy weekend with friends and neighbours, up to 100 gather at the top of the hill under the trees. Music is provided by an accordion or clarinet. The collection raises money to support the local church and various charities. The faithful are rewarded with candy and conversation at the end of the service, the provision of the former being the duty of the preacher of the day.
It is difficult to overstate Arden's importance to those who share this history. Twenty-two years ago this weekend, I married my wife, Christine. We were living in England at the time, but returned to Arden for our wedding. The service was in the local church, performed by my wife's uncle, Redvers Brown, who was the local United Church minister, and my wife's father, Ted Poulter.
There was a certain symmetry. My wife was born in Arden, at a time when her father was the minister in the same church. The reception was held back at The Birches, with everyone pitching in.
Holiday weekends feature an array of events; Canada Day regattas, historical quiz contests and potluck dinners at which middle-aged men always seem to draw the short straw when it comes to being called to the table.
This weekend, it's the fishing contest and fish fry though the diminished skills of the younger generation - and the depleted fish population - will mean a generous supplement from Link's freezer

There's a horseshoe contest, played with shoes some of which must be as old as The Birches. I've never won it, but my brother-in-law, John Poulter, a Yellowknife goldminer, generously allowed me to pay for the trophy inscription the year he won, teamed-up with my daughter Suzi's boyfriend. He'll be playing again this year. Another trophy, equally garish, goes to the winner of the golf tournament (since this requires a 5:30 a.m. rise, it's another good reason to conclude this is an overrated pastime). In more energetic years there have even been mini-Olympics with contests for every age group.

The family has always had close ties to the local community, now stretching back through the generations. And it's true, my brother-in-law and his cousins, Greig and Robbie, were once barred from town after a night-time excursion to ring the fire bell. Family members are prominent in the local church, the Glee Club and in bridge circles.

Some of the older generation live in Arden year round. Others will no doubt follow and if history is any guide, by the next century, there will be a whole lot more relatives spreading round the lake, enjoying the peace, boating and fishing and remembering how it all started from one family's purchase of a summer residence.

Jacob Lincoln and Valdora Heath - Where Did They Come From?

Jacob Lincoln Heath was born on October 23, 1865. His father, Mortimer Heath, had immigrated to Canada with his father and some of his siblings in the early 1830s from upstate New York.

Family tradition has it that Mortimer was of Welsh extraction, but a search of historical records hasn't drawn any light on that contention. His mother was Maria Hess, and her family roots are well documented. Both her maternal and paternal lines immigrated to the Mohawk River valley in the early 1720s from Germany. The families were part of a large group of Palatine German Protestants who had fled when the ruler of their particular part of the country switched back to the Roman Catholic faith and expected his tenants to do the same. There are interesting anecdotes about this side of the family which others may wish to search. To whet your appetite, a partial list of websites is included below.

As an immigrant with American heritage, Mortimer Heath maintained a close interest in the politics of that country. When Jacob Lincoln was born, the US president had just been assassinated. Family tradition has it that he was named for President Lincoln and the name has stuck around some 150 years later (Jacob Lincoln Heath, Frank Lincoln Heath, Lincoln Claude Barnett, Alfred Lincoln Brown and Bruce Lincoln Barnett). Jacob Lincoln's first name came from his mother's father, Jacob Sovereign, who was a prominent businessman in the town of Delhi. He owned a factory that processed hides (from buffalo) into leather goods. (The Sovereen Mitt Robe & Glove Co). That factory passed on through the family after Jacob Sovereign's death in 1909 and is still owned by one of his descendants through Mary Heath Whitside, who was Jacob Lincoln's sister. The Sovereigns (also spelled Sovereen) lived in that part of Norfolk county since the early 1790s and were included in the list of the county's original pioneers. Further details of the Sovereign/Spvereenss and their related families are available in the book, “Pioneer Sketches of the Long Point Settlement”, E.A. Owen, 1898 which can be taken on loan from B.Barnett.

Jacob Lincoln Heath’s mother was Nancy Jane Sovereign. She died in 1866 when Jacob and his two sisters were still very young. When his father remarried and began having children (five of them) with his new wife, Jacob and his sisters went to live with their Grandfather Jacob Sovereen..

Jacob Lincoln and Valdora Heath - Where Did They Come From?
Valdora Pearl Rice was born on November 19, 1862, in Tetterville, another town outside of Simcoe in Norfolk County. She and her four siblings lived in a small house that her father, Samuel Rice, had built. The Rice family had come to Canada from Pennsylvania.
They were among a group of Quakers who pioneered land in Pelham near Hamilton. Samuel’s brother was William Rice, and he and Samuel married two Armstrong sisters, Jane and Orpha Minerva. In spite of the Armstrong name, this branch of the family was mostly of German extraction and also had come to Canada from the Mohawk River valley.

Samuel Rice was a carpenter, successful enough to be one of three people to put up the mortgage payment for the construction of the first Methodist Church in Teeterville. Sometime in the mid 1860s he died, leaving his widow with five children to manage and no means of support. He was probably buried in the Teeterville United Church Cemetery. Unfortunately all cemetery records (along with the Rice home) were burned during the “great Teeterville fire” of 1897. The two sons, Chester and Emery, were sent to relatives who could use their help on their farms. The three daughters remained home to assist Orpha Minerva when she took in lodgers and worked as a laundress for the community at large. Tragedy followed the family, because Chester died in a farm accident (sometime in the 1870s) and then Emory died as well in the early 1880s. Valdora’s oldest sister died in 1876, leaving a daughter, Nellie, who became a younger sister to the two remaining Rice girls. When Nellie grew up, she married Tom Goldring and they had three children, Owen, Madeline, and Frank, who often spent summers with the Heath family in Arden.

Life in a rural community must have been very hard for the Rice family. They probably depended on assistance from relatives and were particularly close to the children of William and Jane Rice who lived not too far away in Windham Centre.

Valdora Rice always said that she would leave as soon as possible and had no intention of ever marrying a farmer. When she was old enough in the early 1880s, she left to find office work in Toronto where she lived with one of her Rice cousins (Omer Franklin who eventually became a senior banker and who married into the family of the founders of the Simpsons Department Store).

Jacob Lincoln Heath was a graduate of high school which was fairly uncommon at the time (see the photo published in the local newspaper to record the accomplishment). Although his roots were strong in the farming community, he took Valdora’s opposition to farming to heart and sought a career in business as a travelling salesman.

After he and Valdora were married in Toronto in 1884, they moved to Buffalo, and it was there that their first child, Edna, was born. Shortly afterward they moved to London, Ontario, where all the rest of their children were born aside from Hazel who died shortly after her birth in Arden in 1905.

" In later years two prominent Simconians, Harvey Evans and Bruce Whitside, suitably dressed as Santa, would on a few evenings before Christmas, make the rounds of several homes where there were small children. Our kids got a big kick out of this. These fellows would come in and talk to them and ask them what they wanted for Christmas. When the children answered Santa would look at the parents. If they nodded then he's say he'd bring it. If they indicated no, he'd say he didn't know if he could get that."

RESIDENCE: 1945: December 21, from the Simcoe Reformer reports fire completed gutted the interior of the home of B. W. Whitside on Colborne St. North this morning, loss estimated at more than $10,000. The Whitside home was one of the oldest (1865) residences in Simcoe. This was quite devastating. It was caused by the handyman, Ken McLaughlin piling hot cinders against storm windows in the basement.As the war was not long over, it was very difficult to get furniture, carpeting and other items required . Bruce used his business contacts and in the end 126 Colborne was restored beautifully.
On April 6 of 1950 he sold the family home at 126 Colborne St. to the family Doctor, Edwin S. Copeman.

BIRTH: From Ontario Vital Statistics, Registration # 026382 (1900)
Whitside, Eula Pauline, Female, July 1, 1900, Father Henry Wilbur Whitside, Mother Mary Elizabeth Heath, Occupation of Father, Traveller - Rat Portage, Physician W.E. Tisdale, Person making return, M. E. Whitside on August 13, 1900.

DEATH: Mary (Whitside) Gilbertson reports she died in her 86th year and I believe she was in Ottawa. Mary (Macdonald) Jennings furnished her death date.

OCCUPATION: She was a R.N. graduate nurse we think from Hamilton General Hospital as she is remembered as attending their reunions. We would guess that she graduated about 1921 and worked throughout her married years as her husband was studying and money was short. After his death at such a young age she was required to continue to work to support herself and 2 children.
MARRIAGE: We know she married John Brick McKinnon from personal knowledge after graduation from Nurse training. I remember hearing that her husband was older than she was and she was married a little later in life. I would judge between 1925 and 1929.
DEATH: Date supplied by Mary (Macdonald) Jenning. On checking the Simcoe Reformer at the time of her death and in the following month, there is no mention of it. I can only assume at the time of her death in the Ottawa area that no one thought to put anything in the newspaper in Simcoe.
BURIAL: She is not buried in the family plot in Delhi so one has to assume that she was buried with her husband in the Mt. Pleasant Cemetery in Toronto.

Pauline Eula WHITSIDE and John Brick MCKINNON were married. John Brick MCKINNON was born on 26 Nov 1904 in Winnipeg, Manitoba. He died on 27 Nov 1943 at the age of 39.[69] He was buried on 29 Nov 1943 in Mt Pleasant Cemetery, ONT.[70] He was a graduate of Actuarial Science.

The Barnetts
As I record in one of these sheets, the Heath girls all met our future husbands in Tweed. Edna met Clair in the Methodist Church young people's work, where Clair was very active. Edna with her keen knowledge and interest in every Christian and progressive endeavour and an accomplished musician contributed to all the church activities, as did Clair, so they were attracted to each other from our arrival in Tweed. The minister, Rev. Tirrell (?) loved and used them both in church activities. When their wedding was announced and the minister had been transferred to Stirling, it was decided the wedding must take place there, so with our Fords and Maxwell cars, we went there. Edna and May had been to Toronto to shop for Edna's trousseau. This was certainly a great event: the wedding of the eldest daughter of the five sisters. We went to Stirling for the ceremony, then on to Belleville to the Quinte Hotel for the wedding breakfast, a very elaborate occasion in that day and age, especially for us. I am not sure where they went on their honeymoon but I think to some of our relatives around Simcoe and Bookton and Delhi and of course Niagara Falls. A reception and shower was held in the rooms of the church in Tweed when they returned. Clair had a lovely little bungalow built for them where they lived for years where Clint and Linc and Ruby were born and where they lived until they moved to Toronto where Clair continued with his art work and where he finally secured a position.

Dora was born in Toronto in 1922. Clint, Linc, Ruby, and Dora all attended Keele Public school, then Humberside High. Clint, Ruby, and Dora went to the art school at Central Tech.

Clinton, the eldest, married Mary Dane, a wonderful wife and companion, and after two or three years, Annie, their only child was born. They lived in an apartment for some years, then bought a home on Braeside Rd. Annie became one of the top kindergarden teachers in Toronto. They have a delightful cottage at the water's edge at Arden where Clint and Mary spend most of the spring, summer and autumn months. Annie arrives as often as possible through her holidays and contributes, greatly as does her father to the directing of music at church and communal gatherings. Mary helps organize most of our get-togethers, bridge parties .

Lincoln, the second son, married Thelma Bottomley, who has been equally contributing to the love and help to her husband and the clan especially at Arden. Thelma and Linc built a beautiful cottage on the top of the hill and they also contribute to the music and all gatherings. The Fish Fry day is dependent on Linc, who is now the fisherman of the family as Dad Heath was. He shares all the fish he catches so that whenever we have company or get hungry for a feed of fish, he supplies it for us.

Linc and Thelma made their home in London, Ont., Linc as a commercial traveller. They have four active children, Paul and Bruce and Sandra and Leigh. They all have cottages at Arden and contribute greatly to our community. Thelma, like Mary helps organize potluck suppers and other Arden activities.

Ruby married Bill Rapsey and they built a cottage on the lake beside Clint and Mary. They had two lovely and smart daughters, Linda and Laurie, who both married and their children with their crafts and visitations keep us busy enjoying their talents. Ruby sadly died of cancer in 1995.

Dora married Al Scott and they have built a cottage at the base of the hill. They have two children, Greig and Karen, each with three boys. They keep the community park in great shape and add so much energy at all the gatherings.

Edna, the eldest of the Heath girls , was always looked up to in every way by the other sisters. She had a determination to succeed in any accomplishment or venture she undertook. Her interest in humanity was exceptional, so as a young student she studied to make top, which she did in academics, music, etc. She was a perfect example which her sisters tried to copy, and she lived a long influential life always ready to assist and counsel if needed. Her formal education was limited but she was as far advanced in her thinking as those with many letters to their names. She read everything from Plato to Emerson that she could get her hands on and spent every cent on books, classics preferably. Her music ability came second to her literary and humanitarian interests. It is so hard to put in words the full meaning of her accomplishments. She has gone now; she died several after celebrating her 102nd birthday on September 30, 1990. She has left many members of her family who are following in her footsteps as nearly as possible and contributing greatly to the Heath clan, with music, art, and love.

When the war years started, Edna decided to take a course in secretarial work and went to live with the McCallums in Kingston for several years and worked in the family business while she took the course. (Ruby also moved to Kingston for a short time and worked in the shop.) Upon her return to Toronto, Edna worked for the government until her retirement many years later.
Throughout her life Edna kept her interest in politics and once ran for the school board under the auspices of the CCF (not particularly popular at the time). She was an active member of the Voice of Woman and in the Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament when it was at its height in the early 1960s. She was always a progressive and had the habit of believing that all her relatives were as well. She never forced her views on anyone but always prefaced her comments by things like, "Don't you think that….." and "I know you believe that …." always assuming that the person she was talking with would share her concerns. Most of us did and have grown up with her convictions as the basis of our own. Grandma had a great respect for all religions and based her beliefs on "Do unto others as you would have them do to you". If you lived by that rule, it didn't matter what religion you had. When Karen married Harry, who was Jewish, Grandma told her she was so proud of her in overcoming the religious prejudices our society. That was not surprising as Grandma Barnett often went to Holly Blossom Temple on Saturdays to listen to Rabbi Gunter Plaut, a leader of the peace movement at the time and then to the Unitarian Church on Sundays.
She never lost her interest in music and taught piano to all of the Toronto area cousins. She was always playing at family singsongs on the "grand" piano in the Birches, at the annual Christmas Eve Barnett gathering at 52 Braeside Road, and then later on at the extended family Christmas party at the famous family apartment on Islington Ave. She remained alert almost to the end and had reached the grand age of 102 when she died in 1990. She is still much missed.

He died on 5 Mar 1936 at the age of 50 in Toronto Ontario. Spelling of name is Clare not Clair as per her birth certificate.

Clair's family had been in Tweed for a number of years, where his father ran a dry-goods store. When (Ernest) Clair was born in 1885, the family lived in Athens, Ontario, where the father then ran a bootmaker's shop. They moved in the mid-1890s to Deseronto and then finally to Tweed. Religion was an important aspect in Clair's family life as his grandfather had been a Methodist preacher who spent most of his career on assignments in Sydenham, Lansdowne, and Shawville, Quebec. According to Grandma Barnett, there had been a secret in the Barnett family, and one relative in particular was never to be mentioned. Diligent searches of genealogy records haven't turned up any great problem other than possibly the fact that one of Clair's great uncles (on his mother's side) had been a leader of the Mormon church in the Sydenham area and had led a number of local adherents on the famous trek the group made to their new home in Utah. That uncle died in 1891 with many children and grandchildren from his 11 wives. In the early 1900s that probably counted for something a Methodist family wouldn't talk about.

Clair had a twin brother, (Percy) Claud, and a sister, Ethel (Pearl). Ethel married Charlie Kerr, who also was a shopkeeper in Tweed. The Kerrs Barnetts and Heaths remained close, and at one point Grampa Heath sold a portion of the Birches to Charlie Kerr's father (1922). He died only a few months after purchasing the land, and his family preferred to sell it back to the Heaths. It was bought by Faye McCallum, which is how that branch of the Heaths obtained their part of the point.

Clair and Claud both worked in the family business, but Clair was never happy with the job he had. Clint, Linc, and Ruby were born in Tweed, but shortly after Ruby's birth the family moved to Toronto where Dora was born. It is probable that Edna missed her family as she was the only one left in Tweed by that time. The rest of the family had moved on earlier and were now all living in the High Park area except for Faye and Bill McCallum, who had moved to Kingston). Clair got himself a position as a commercial artist where he remained until his death in 1936. A reproduction of one of Clair's paintings hangs in the Council Chamber at City Hall in Tweed. And if one would like to make an artistic visit to Tweed, it could also include a stop at the Tweed Historical Society (main street just south of the grocery) where the "Barnett Collection" includes children's' toys from the 1800s which the family had donated when they moved out of the old family home.

Clair and Edna remained active in church work and became involved as well in progressive politics. At the time there was a growing movement in the United Church that emphasized social action rather than spiritual growth in church activities. They attended many meetings to protest the conditions of the poor and were apparently at one of the meetings that led to the founding of the CCF, precursor to the NDP.

Through the Depression, life in the family seems to have been fairly normal with summers still spent in Arden and winters in Toronto close by the other cousins. Tragedy struck in 1936 when Clair took his own life when he was only 51 years old. No one had noticed that he suffered from depression but in retrospect it seems that the markers may have been there. He appears to be a very somber person in all family photos. We now know that many people on the Barnett side have suffered from depression as well, and unfortunately there were probably few treatments available in those days. His death left the family in great distress. Clint had just graduated and rather than continue with his schooling he had to find work to support the family. With the help of her sisters, Edna managed to survive, and the other three kids were able to finish their own high school education.

Ernest Clare BARNETT and Edna Fern HEATH had the following children:

The story of the McPhee family within the Heath clan started in the early 1910s at Albert College, in Belleville, Ontario. As students, it was there that Mary Jane (May) Heath met John Elmer (Jack) McPhee. Jack had moved from his family farm in McPhee's Valley (near Blind River) in Northern Ontario to attend high school. Jack was studying sciences with the long term hope of becoming a doctor. May was finishing high school and excelled at music she reportedly attained the highest marks in Ontario in her vocal exam during her graduating year.

Around the late 1920s Jack and May purchased 45 Pacific from Grandpa and Grandma Heath. The house was eventually sold around 1957 and was demolished when the subway was built. Jack and May moved into an apartment and spent six months of each year at Arden. The children all attended Keele St Elementary School and Humberside High School. They were members of Howard Park United, Church where May sang with her sisters in the choir and taught Sunday school.
Both May and Jack had strong left-wing leanings. May was a member of the Voice of Woman, and both belonged to the newly founded Co-operative Commonwealth Foundation (CCF) which later evolved into the NDP party. Once the children became older, May worked to establish the first nursery school for mentally disabled children in Toronto.

After Jack and May sold 45 Pacific in 1957, they moved into an apartment in Toronto. Jack retired around this time and he and May were then able to spend six months of each year at their beloved Arden cottage. After developing Alzheimer's, May spent the last years of her life in a nursing home in Toronto. Jack died in 1972 from complications arising from a car accident he had on his way home from visiting May in the home. May passed away the following year. May and Jack's grandchildren and their families continue to spend happy times together at Arden, and they are truly grateful for the legacy of love and commitment to family that May and Jack bestowed upon them.

The McPhees
May, the next eldest after Edna, attended Albert College and finished her high school and continued with music, where she received Honours and had the highest marks in Ontario for her final exam in Vocal. While at Albert College she met Jack McPhee who was studying to be a doctor but the WW1 came when he enlisted as an assistant in hospitals overseas. May went on with her education, attended normal school and taught public school in the Union School on the Mountain Grove road near Arden. When Jack returned from overseas after being gassed, they were married from our home in Tweed. They immediately went to live in Sulphide, where Jack worked for Nichols (?) Chemical Company in the lab and rented an apartment. In a year's time Jack Jr., their eldest son, was born. They lived there until the end of the war when they moved to Toronto and lived at 45 Pacific. Mother and Dad Heath had bought there after leaving Tweed and we all Edna, Clair, and three kids, May, Jack, and little Jack on the second flat (one bathroom in that flat serving all), Jean and Ruby using the sunroom for sleeping, going every morning with Jack in his car. Jean and Ruby worked in offices at the United Drug Co. on Davenport, where Jack worked in a lab. Mother and Dad had a bedroom in the centre flat (Dad was still a commercial traveller and away through the week). We all ate together in the formal dining room. This lasted for some months until the Barnetts and the McPhees moved to another home on Pacific. During this time (I think) Bob McPhee was born.

The McPhee family lived for years and years at 45. Jeannie was born there. Young Jack, Bob and Jean attended Keele Public and Humber High: Jack finished at Guelph as a vet. He secured a position in the United States and married Evie and little Peggy was born in 1944. They often visited Jack's family at Arden and sad to report, Jack Jr, was operating on a rat and contracted poison and never recovered. A year later little Peggy walked away one day from her sandbox to the dock where she fell in and drowned. May and Jack seemed never to recover from that shock.

Young Jack's funeral was held at the cottage, and he was buried in the Arden cemetery where our brother Frank is, and now Mother and Dad Heath, John and May McPhee, and little baby Peggy who was drowned off a dock at the cottage, the only fatality ever to happen there.

Bob, like Linc, enlisted as a Conscientious Objector (CO). After the war he returned to university and completed a course in theology, was ordained and received a call to a United Church out West where he and Joyce, his wife, stayed throughout his ministry. They raised a family of four, Rob, David, Carolyn and Kathy. They all eventually received excellent educations. Rob married Jennifer. David, Carolyn; Carolyn, Dr Terry O'Brien and Kathy still is unmarried. Rob is principal of School and has three children Jill, Jessica and Matthew. David the lawyer, Carolyn teaches and she and Terry have two children Kattie and David. Kathy is a nurse.

When the children were grown and Kathy a teenager, Bob lost Joyce to cancer. In the years that followed he married a wonderful old friend who had lost her husband and she and Bob (Frank) were married. During these years the McPhee family returned almost annually to Arden to the McPhee cottage.

Jeannie was born several years after Bob. While May and Jeannie were in hospital, young John and Bob were taken to Arden by Jean and Cleworth Foster. Young Jack stayed with the Barnetts and Bob with the Fosters.

Jean was educated at Keele and finally went on to university where she took social science. She married Ted Poulter a young theological student at Victoria University. They were married and their first mission they were sent to Arden United Church where they spent three years. Chrissie was born during this time. After leaving Arden they were sent to Toronto with Ted as assistant minister at High Park United. During this time they lived in the upper apartment at 45 Pacific with Jean's parents where (I think) John was born. Ted was successful as an assistant minister in Deer Park United.

When John, their son, was 19 months and Chrissie was three, they were spending the summer at Arden and in the last of the month of August, Jean, as with many many others, was stricken with polio. She was rushed to Kingston hospital where she spent many months in an iron lung. During this time Ted receive a call from the United Church. They bought a home in Toronto and had special equipment for Jeannie where they lived for many years. Jeannie was a mother with a housekeeper helper from her wheelchair as the children were attending school.

Mary Jane "May" HEATH and John Elmer MCPHEE were married on 5 Apr 1917 in Hasting County, Ontario. John Elmer MCPHEE was born on 19 Sep 1892. He died in 1972 at the age of 80. Marriage: Children: from a letter from R. R. Mutrie re Gustin genealogy, July/95. Letter to R.L.W.
After graduation Jack went on to study medicine at Queen's University while May went to teacher's college. In the middle of his studies, WWI broke out and Jack was conscripted. As a conscientious objector, he was posted overseas as an army medic. Jack served in Egypt and in the trenches in France. May lived in Arden and taught at the Union Public School, a one room school house which still stands on what is now called Price Road. Jack was discharged early after being gassed in the trenches, which gave him life-long health issues.
Once Jack returned to Canada, the couple married in 1917 and moved to Sulphide, Ontario, where Jack worked for a chemical company and Jack Jr was born in 1918. Once the war ended. the three moved to Toronto to join other members of the Heath family at 45 Pacific Ave. Jack was unable to finish his medical training but had sufficient education to be hired on as a research chemist by the United Drug Company (later renamed Rexall). Frank was born in 1920 and Jean was born shortly after in 1923. (According to family legend, when Jean was very young, she had a name for her big brother Frank that sounded like Bob. Because of this, Frank was called Bob as a young boy and into his adult years. Many people still think of him as Bob, but he will be referred to as Frank for the rest of this family chapter.) The years while the children were growing up were happy, with everyone in good health, and the family endured the Depression in relative comfort due to Jack's secure employment.
During their early years, the three children spent two months of each summer at Arden with their mother as well as their cousins and aunts. Each weekend Jack would work until noon on Saturday and then make the long trek to the cottage, which at that time took six or seven hours. In the mid-1930s Jack and May had the McPhee cottage built by Stan Loyst.
Jack had hoped to run for the CCF but was told that he would lose his job at Rexall if he did so. Given the financial situation of the time, he had to refuse the opportunity.

John Elmer MCPHEE and Mary Jane HEATH had the following children:

+130 i. Jean Marion MCPHEE, married Charles Frederick POULTER, 1946; died 29 Jun 1967, Toronto Ontario.
+131 ii. John Neil Mc PHEE, born 12 Feb 1918, Toronto Ontario; married Evelyn WORTHHAM; died 14 Sep 1944.

Wilma THORNBER, 1946; married Ruth Carolyn OLIVER, aft 1975; died 16 Feb 2007, Lacombe, Alberta.

Faye Valdora Heath, was the middle Heath sister, born 1 January 1892 in London. She and William James McCallum both lived in Tweed as young people where they met through church and musical groups. Both attended Albert College in Belleville, as did Edna and May Heath and Jack McPhee. She died on 11 Dec 1960 at the age of 68. M:CHILD:from a letter from R. R. Mutrie re Gustin genealogy, July/95.

The McCallums
Faye and Bill moved to Kingston in 1916 and lived with the McCallum parents for a short time, then in a part of a double house which they rented. Bill was in the monument business with his father. Don was born in 1919, after which Faye, Bill and Don moved into a home of their own. One night, Faye had an inspiration while lying awake in a thunderstorm and she completely planned a gift shop in the front section of the building where the monument business was carried out. She proposed it to Bill and in some way managed to convey her enthusiasm and they all fell in with her plan. The McCallum China and Gift shop developed into a good business.

Finally, when Bill's dad died, they were able to give up the monument business, which Bill hated, to Bill's brother Jack and his cousin Mac Best. Bill and Faye moved the shop to a very good location down in the main section of Kingston, and the business prospered. Faye and Bill managed the business together attending and buying from all the gift shows in Toronto.
Don graduated with honours from high school and took a Special Commercial course. He spent time working in the monument business and in the McCallum shop on the books. He felt it his duty to enlist and then married Martha but went off to war and didn't see his baby daughter, Maureen, until he returned years later. Martha lived with Faye and Bill through this period where they idolized their little granddaughter. Both Bill and Don built lovely homes on the St Lawrence River and lived side by side for years. Martha and Don had two more children, David and Robbie. Faye loved these children so dearly as they grew up.
Both she and Bill died before the children were married and on their own. They were all educated in Kingston. Maureen took journalism and went off to New Zealand with her husband. She has a daughter, Leila. David lives on Wolfe Island with Valerie. Robbie married and has a home and three lovely children, a boy and two girls. The McCallum cottage at Arden is busy on weekends in summers and winters and they spend their holidays there; attending the church services Sunday on the flats. Don always contributed to the music for the services.

Valdora Fay HEATH and WilliamJames MCCALLUM were married in 1916 in Tweed, ONT.[86] WilliamJames MCCALLUM was born on 5 Jul 1893 in Sault Ste Marie, Ontartio. William was born in Sault Ste Marie in 1893, but the McCallum family had moved back east to an area they knew well (see the Sanderson connection, below) and established the Tweed Marble Works. When he and Faye met, Will (later Bill) had the attractions of a fast car (a 1911 McLaughlin), a fancy camera, and a good job with his father, George McCallum. The Tweed company was owned jointly with the McCallum in-laws, the Bests. Faye and Will courted for several years Will visited Faye at Arden in summer of 1915 and the couple married in Tweed in 1916. Shortly after, George McCallum moved the Granite Company to Kingston. Faye and Will, Will's brother, Jack, his wife Mabel, and the Bests all moved along with the company. After that Faye and Will made frequent trips to Toronto so that Faye could visit her parents and sisters. They also stayed at the Birches during the summers

Ruby Geneva Heath was born on July 15, 1895, well before the Wright brothers or Henry Ford. Her middle name was meant to be Genevra but was mispelled on the birth certificate and never changed.
Ruby was the second youngest child of Jacob and Dora Heath. She looked up to her oldest sister Edna and considered her to be a second mother and protector of the shy youngster. She was especially close to her sister Jean and brother Frank. Frank's death at the age of 11 from a ruptured appendix devastated Ruby. Thoughts of Frank still brought tears to her eyes in her later years. When the family moved to Tweed, Ruby attended Albert College in Belleville and helped her mother at the family's temperance hotel. She worked as a substitute teacher at the Price Road School in Arden and during the Great War worked for a short time at a munitions plant in Sulphide, Ontario,. Later she would work at the Canada Bread Company in Toronto and met and became engaged to a young man who became a casualty of the war. It left her heartbroken, and a long time passed before she would reconsider marriage.
In 1988 Ruby broke her hip. The doctor said he had never seen a senior of 93 years with such a strong heart. She was not expected to walk without a walker again, but once she was at the cottage, she never used it. She would pass away at Arden just weeks from her hundredth birthday, a classy, loving, gentle woman who loved children and family and Arden above all else.

The Browns (from Bruce Barnett)

Ruby met Redvers Brown, the Methodist minister's son, in Tweed. Redvers attended Victoria College in Toronto and after he graduated in 1926 they were married at Howard Park United Church They moved to Cordova Mines, followed by Roseneath, where their son, Alfred Lincoln Brown, was born (in Toronto General) in 1927.
While Edna was living in Kingston and Red had gone as a chaplin in the army, Ruby, Fred, and Johanne came from Haliburton where Redvers had been serving with the United Church and stayed in Toronto with Clint, Ruby, and Dora until Edna returned. (Dora stayed with her school friend, June Hicks.)

Ruby Geneva HEATH and Milton Redvers "Red" BROWN were married on 19 May 1926 in Tweed, ONT. Milton Redvers "Red" BROWN was born on 29 Jul 1900. He died on 16 Jun 1981 at the age of 80. Marriage: from a letter from R. R. Mutrie re Gustin genealogy, July/95. Letter to R.L.W.
Ruby had met Redvers (Red) Brown at a church function in Tweed where Red's father was the Methodist minister. Red was born January 29, 1900 (in Ontario, possibly Lindsay) to Gertrude and Alfred Brown who had immigrated from Dublin, Ireland. Red was five years younger than Ruby and totally smitten by her. Some years later, after he was ordained as a minister at Trinity College, they were married in Tweed on May 19, 1926. Their first church was in Cordova Mines, followed by Roseneath, where their son, Alfred Lincoln Brown, was born on April 6, 1927.
The young family experienced several moves during their early years, with White Lake near Renfrew being their next stop, then Tamworth (where Fred started school), followed by Wilfred and Haliburton (anyone have a map handy?). Johanne Patricia Brown was born January 30, 1940. Red shipped out to join the war effort as a padre and would not return until 1946.
Fred attended Pickering College along with his cousin Bruce Foster for his high school years.
Ruby and Johanne moved to 45 Pacific Avenue. (Who didn't spend some time there?)

Milton Redvers BROWN and Ruby Geneva HEATH had the following children:

+134 i. Alfred Lincoln "Fred" BROWN, born 6 Apr 1927; married Rheta May STAMPER, 1947.
+135 ii. Joanne Patricia BROWN, born 30 Jan 1940; married Wayne MCMACKEN, 1966.

Minister was A. Haggart Scott. Witnesses were Clifford Case of Toronto and Faye McCallum of Toronto (married sister of the bride).

The Fosters

Orpha Jean Heath Foster was the youngest of the five Heath sisters, born in 1896 in London, Ontario. She was very young in 1902 when their first move to Arden was made. The family later lived in Tweed, running the Queen's Hotel and surely there were many chores associated with the running of a hotel even for a young girl. Jean attended church and, like her sisters, had a great appreciation for music.

Jean had to cross the Tweed bridge to go to and from high school and it was on one of these crossings on a sunny spring afternoon that she met a striking boy named Cleworth Ward Foster, fondly known as Clute. Young Clute worked in Tweed doing odd jobs and was luckily crossing the bridge that afternoon delivering groceries. They met and … that was it! Time flew and on that same bridge Clute proposed one future day. Always the romantics, Jean and Clute were always arm and arm or hand in hand. Clute of course was introduced to life at Arden shortly after meeting Jean, and later he built the little blue and white cottage for her.

When Jean and Cleworth met, he was a farmer's son from Moira. They were married in Toronto in 1922 at Howard Park United Church, with the reception at 121 Edna Ave. They had hard going for the first few years: he was attending Victoria University, hoping to go into the ministry but decided it wasn't for him. For a few years he foundered until he went into the real estate business with Bruce Rice, Mother's cousin. Jean worked in office work while he was learning the business. They stayed at Edna Ave. with Mother and Dad Heath until Cleworth was successful and able to buy a home. Bruce was born in 1928. When he was about a year old they moved to a lovely home at 42 Baby Point Road. Shortly after, Mother and Dad Heath purchased a home at 8 Baby Pt Rd, where they sank most of their savings. As the Depression began to become serious, Cleworth and Jean sold their home and moved in with Dad and Mother Heath. We thought to try to save #8 and Mother and Dad Heath financially, but it didn't work, so #8 was lost and their savings with it.

The Fosters then went to Madoc where they had bought a beautiful home. It was old but lovely, and they had it all renovated. Mother and Dad Heath moved to Arden for the summers, but spent winters with the Fosters in Madoc. We were all invited to spend Christmas there, which we did. We spent our last Christmas with Dad Heath who died the next spring just after arriving in Arden on May 24, 1940 . He had a stroke and lived only a couple of days.

Ruby, Fred and Johanne stayed at the cottage in Arden with Mother that summer after Dad's death, the Fosters visiting often from Madoc. The Barnett and McPhee families also spent the summer in the cottages where they could be with Mother Heath every day.
Later Jean worked at the Family Support Center at the University Settlement.
Jean had a lovely soprano voice, and for three years she was a soloist at Humbercrest United Church.
Jean and Clute lived a long healthy life together and were able to meet Christopher, their first great grandchild! Clute passed away in 1984. Jean required care and passed away a few years later.

Orpha Jean Lenora HEATH and Cleward Ward "Clute" FOSTER were married on 12 Sep 1922 at Howard Park United Church, 124 Westminister Ave. in Toronto Ontario.[90] Cleward Ward "Clute" FOSTER, son of John L. FOSTER and Eleanor BIRD, was born on 26 Oct 1897. He died on 26 Jun 1984 at the age of 86. Clute was born in 1897 in Moira where his family worked a farm. He was one of four boys, the others Edgar, Carmen, and Kenneth. Legend has it that the family were direct descendants of Thomas Foster who was a gunner at Bamburough castle in England. In 1634, two years after the pilgrims landed in the New World, the Fosters made the voyage across the sea and settled in Massachusetts. On a trip to Martha's Vineyard a diligent search in a local cemetery produced very weathered Foster gravestones.
When the Heath family moved to Toronto, Clute followed and attended the University of Toronto. He began his career with R.B. Rice Real Estate, whose founder was a cousin of Grandma Heath's. He later retired as VP of Real Estate, PR and Personnel of Dominion Stores. In 1939 he took a four-year leave of absence from Dominion and worked in Ottawa to help with the war effort with C.D. Howe. Later in 1953 he ran for the Liberal Party in Hastings County.
